What happens after I leave hospital

Your Stoma Nurse will already have told your District Nurse that you have been discharged from hospital. A District Nurse will visit you at least once, usually within 48 hours of your discharge.

You are normally followed up in the Stoma Clinic six to eight weeks after your discharge from hospital. After that, they will continue to review you for as long as your urologist feel it necessary.

If you have problems between clinic appointments, you can always contact the Stoma Clinic to arrange an earlier review.
